SHE

is

She is armor.

She is silk.

She is both.

A fluid sculpture, born of contrasts.

Hard, yet yielding.

Protective, yet revealing.

She moves within her shield,
and the shield moves with her.

Every curve remembers touch.

Every reflection holds a secret.

What looks like defense is also desire.

The corset does not restrain – it reminds.

That softness is a form of strength.

That beauty can be a weapon to protect and to attack.

That power can whisper.

FREYFRAU is not worn.

It is inhabited.

Croped armor

This piece recalls the expression of protection part masculin gladiator, part insect shield.

Its structure gleams like polished metal, alive with movement and light. A sculptural armor that mirrors the body's own resilience, transforming strength into seduction.

It does not hide. It claims.

Croped Shield

Inspired by the treasures of Africa, discovered in the soft light of South Africa, this piece carries the warmth of the earth the quiet power and softness of gold and platinum, born from African soil.

Its form is gentle, flowing like sand shaped by water and wind a tender armor that embraces rather than confines. The matte finish reveals a subtle glow, echoing the grace of the women who inspired it.

Every FREYFRAU corset is a unique creation – sculpted by hand, guided by intuition.

You can buy existing peaces or the customer chooses the size, price category, and color. The final form, however, is shaped by the designer.

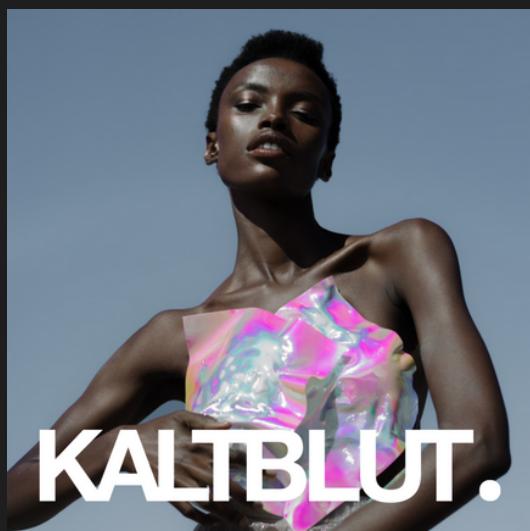

Each piece carries a moment of surprise, an interpretation that cannot be copied or repeated.

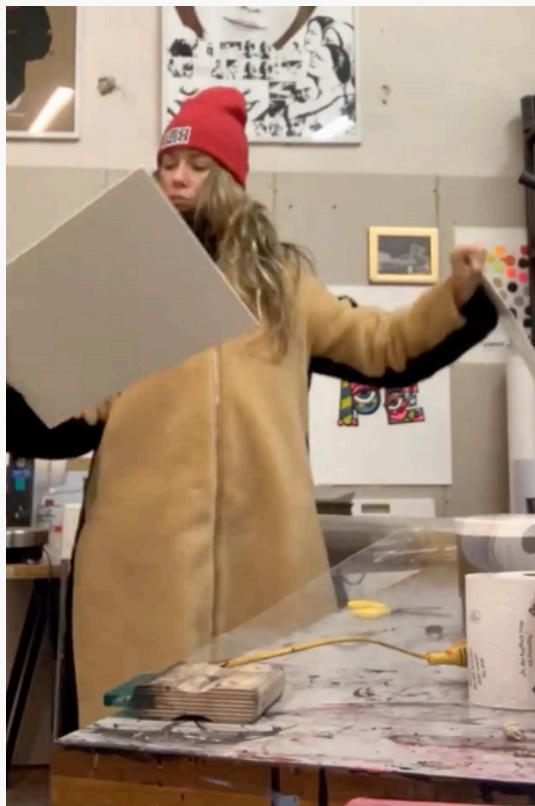

Corsets are currently available in sizes XS to M, designed with a B cup base. Depending on your shape and desired look, the form may vary slightly – always with the intention to complement your body's natural lines.

Strap options are chosen individually by the designer to ensure balance, proportion, and harmony of the overall silhouette.

For custom solutions beyond the available sizes or designs, an individual agreement can be arranged.

FREYFRAU pieces are not manufactured clothes – they are wearable art.

Behind FERYFRAU

FREYFRAU explores the tension between strength and sensitivity. Each corset becomes a sculptural second skin an armor of light that flows like metal and breathes like fluet. The pieces embrace the Human body not to hide it, but to reveal its power, its tenderness, its truth or not.

These forms are shields, but also invitations. They protect the sensibility that defines strength and celebrate the courage it takes to be seen.

FREYFRAU stands for the union of vulnerability and force, for the beauty that exists in both resistance and surrender. Every curve, every gloss or matte surface, carries the same promise: to make the wearer feel held, free, and fiercely alive.
